Motorists who were out early this morning found heavy fog hanging over the district. The sudden drop in the temperature, following the rains of Monday, provided plenty of moisture.

Pa Newc received some lovely gladioli from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bender, Harbor road, and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Tebay, Wampum, yesterday. They had brought the flowers with them from the gladioli farm of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bell, in Amherst, Ohio, where the Bells have over 25 acres of these flowers. In the fall of each year, the Bells go to Florida and continue raising these flowers throughout the winter. Some of the stalks brought in to Pa Newc were nearly four feet high.

Today thousands of boys and girls in this city and county are returning to school rooms, happy and carefree, books or lunch boxes under their arms, and their minds preoccupied with hours of play and recreation as soon as their classes are over. Across the Atlantic, however, boys and girls are marching off to country havens to escape gas and bomb raids. They are provided with meager rations in place of well filled lunch boxes. They are separated from home and friends. They don't know if they will ever get back. They are carrying gas masks to protect them from poison gas. Just compare their condition with your own, and be thankful you are living in America.

Get Meager Details Of Western Front Fighting

(International News Service)
As Europe's war gathered momentum today, meager details of fighting on the western front began trickling through censorships. Developments:

PARIS—Bombing of German industrial centers in the Rhineland, including Aix-La-Chapelle, by British and French airplanes was revealed by the Paris press. Communiqué No. 5 claimed that on the western front "several local advances were realized yesterday evening and during the night." French artillery and infantry were believed concentrating on wiping out German machine gun outposts between the Moselle and Rhine rivers.

WARSAW—Poland's army staged a strong stand to protect the capital, as the Germans were reported battling their way southward only 42 miles from Warsaw. Government offices were removed from the center of Warsaw to the suburbs.

LONDON—Sinking of the submarine which torpedoed the liner Athenia by a destroyer was reported as it became evident that the waters surrounding the British Isles are alive with maritime warfare.

BERLIN—Nazi circles predicted the fall of Warsaw within two weeks.

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt and aides mapped a series of moves to enforce "true American neutrality" that may make calling a special session of congress unnecessary.

LONDON, Sept. 6—Appearance of a fleet of German bombing craft near the East coast of England sent residents of London scurrying to air raid shelters this morning in the first lengthy air raid alarm since hostilities began in Europe.

For two hours and 25 minutes—from 6:40 a. m. until 9:05 a. m.—London was at a complete standstill while the population of England's capital calmly awaited the crash of bombs or the welcome baton of signals that meant "all clear."

It was the latter and not the former that came.

Planes Near Coast

"We are officially informed," said an announcement by the ministry of information, "that enemy aircraft were reported near the coast of England early this morning.

"So far as is known, they did not penetrate our defenses at any point, and no damage has been reported."

BERLIN, Sept. 6—As Nazi circles predicted the fall of Warsaw within two weeks, the German military high command today issued an official communiqué describing sweeping new successes on the eastern front.

The German armies, it was re-vealed, are now thundering toward Warsaw at a rate of 40 kilometers (almost 30 miles) daily.

During the past 24 hours, the jaws of the Reich's military machine virtually closed on the strategic cities of Posen, Lodz and Cracow. The latter two are expected to be encircled within 12 hours.

Capture Passes

"Operations on the eastern front continued successfully September 5," the communiqué said.

"According to plan, mountain troops captured the northern passes and outlets of the Beskid mountains (on the Poland-Slovakia border) and are at present attacking Neu Sandez.

Troops pushing on Cracow from the south and west are driving the Poles before them.

The entire upper Silesian industrial district is in German hands. Farther north, German troops captured the lines linking Kłodzko, Lepusza and Płotkow.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—In the face of a rapid German advance, members of the Polish government and of foreign embassies were believed fleeing from Warsaw today for some temporary new capital further removed from the scene of military activities.

The London Daily Mail, reporting complete evacuation of the city by foreign embassies, said:

"It is reported the German advance is being led by tanks behind which come liquid fire-throwers."

In Easy Reach Of Guns

Latest formal advice late yesterday indicated that the Germans had reached a point within less than 50 miles of Warsaw, which would place the capital within reach of the invaders' heavy guns. Repeated bombing attacks upon the city was reported. The Germans claimed to be restricting these attacks to military objectives.

Meanwhile, the official Polish news agency declared that 30 Polish bombing planes had raided Berlin yesterday.

Skyrocketing Of Food Prices Will Be Halted In U.S.

BY ERIC FRIEDHEIM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The federal government "undoubtedly" will take prompt and decisive action to prevent skyrocketing of food prices due to the European war, the White House said today.

At the direction of President Roosevelt, the department of justice is determining the government's present authority to curb profiteering in food—profiteering which would strike a blow at Americans as well as citizens of belligerent nations.

While the president and his legal advisers sought a way to keep food prices under control, the department of agriculture forecast general increases in most domestic retail prices of food and other commodities.

MOVING TO PROTECT AMERICA'S LIFELINE

IN THIS time of stress and tension is a war-mad world, it is good to know that our government is looking well to its defense of America's "lifeline," the Panama Canal.

The army, the navy, and the air forces are right on the job with both feet. Military guards man every vessel that passes through the waterway. Eighteen of the nation's fastest pursuit planes have flown to the Canal Zone from Michigan's Selfridge Field.

The locks are the most vulnerable links in the chain. They are being watched as never before in peace-time.

The anti-aircraft guns are manned night and day. Strangers are barred from entering the immediate vicinity of the canal.

Last year Secretary Woodring issued the latest of many warnings that the defenses of the Panama Canal lay open to disastrous attack and must be made impregnable.

As far back as 1925 naval expert asserted that the canal was vulnerable from four points: foreign territories to the north and south and aircraft carriers in either ocean.

In 1927 it was officially declared that the havoc wrought by a single bomb could throw the canal out of service for a year. An enemy vessel, it was pointed out, might pass through the waterway and lay a heavy mine that would remain on the bottom of the channel, until detonated by radio or a surface ship, before war began.

Congress recently made $27,000,000 available for a war-proof Panama Canal. The new defense program cannot be instituted too soon. The canal cost many times that sum. But it is not merely a question of protecting a financial investment.

It is a matter of insuring the continued rapid transit of our navy from ocean to ocean, so that it may be available to defend either coast should danger impend.

The Panama Canal is the Achilles heel in our system of national defense. It must be so no longer.

RURAL TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Where there were 2,720 traffic fatalities in July, 1938, there were 2,750 in this year. This increase of a little more than one per cent followed a three-month period when fatalities about equalled those of the corresponding period a year ago, while in the first quarter there was very substantial reduction. The question raised is whether the later results indicate a decided halt in the safety campaign.

Fortunately, a definite answer is easily available, thanks to the complete and detailed statistics now available. These clearly indicate that the campaign is no less effective than when it was started, but that there is need of giving it added emphasis in the rural areas. For the fact is that fatalities in the cities were nine per cent fewer than in July last year, while in the rural areas they were seven per cent higher.

The problem of highway travel in the country is, of course, much different from that in urban centers. For instance, of last year's fatalities in the cities 61 per cent of the victims were pedestrians, compared with only 23 per cent in the rural total. Such comparisons as these clearly indicate the different aspects of the problem and determine the different techniques and methods to be applied.

CONCERNING THE FAMILY ROW

Professor Mark L. Entorf, Cornell University sociologist, has come to the conclusion that the good, loud family row is sometimes good for the health, but he doesn't recommend it for all families. There are, he finds, two distinct types of family groups—"those that strive to maintain a tranquil, serene surface in the face of all irritations and conflicts, and those that resort to the good old family row to relieve antagonisms and piques."

The row, he is convinced, serves as an outlet for the emotions and it is far better, he believes, to engage in a verbal brawl rather than harbor the grudges in silence. We may accept Professor Entorf's remarks as a true factor in sociological life but it is going to be a little difficult to convince the silent and moody type of a husband or a wife that hurling dishes around the dining room is nothing short of a benefit to their health and happiness.

Also to be taken into consideration is the fact that family rows are not planned or carefully thought out. They just arise like Phoenix from the ashes of the previous argument and in less time than it takes to tell, hubby is in the dog-house and wifey is having herself a little crying spell. The argument may clear the air but sometimes it is in the nature of a certain stain remover. It took off the stains in a satisfactory manner but it also took off a lot more.

THE SCHOOL BELL CALLS

The schoolboy, on the first day of school, was traditionally supposed to answer the command of the bell with tardy and reluctant feet. He was considered to groan as he thought of nine months' servitude under the lesson yoke, in unhappy subjugation to teacher, whom he regarded as an unrelenting tyrant. He gave up the vagrant ways of vacation with a heavy heart.

The cheerful faces of the children of New Castle on their way to school at the beginning of another term, give no hint of such sentiments. On the contrary they have had enough of idle loafing, and they are ready to accept the tasks of school for what they get out of it.

The reason is that education has been turned upside down during recent years. It approaches children from a new point of view. It makes them want to learn, by picturing the dreary future in prospect for the dunce. It cuts out the tedious memory lessons of the past, it shows the close relation of school learning to daily needs, and it makes the boy who fails to get his lessons feel like a tailender in the race of life.

School work becomes associated with interesting things which children do not want to miss. Thousands of schools have athletic teams, bands and orchestras, parties, dances, playgrounds. Not all schools can provide such facilities, but most of them somehow sugar coat the once bitter pill of education.

The teacher has ceased being a grinding taskmaster, and has become the friend whom a normal child will want to please. If some of these youngsters still will not try to learn, even after all these inducements are offered, who or what is to blame? It may be some physical defect which could be cured. If children fall behind, their parents might wonder if lack of home discipline is not the real cause.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HOW TO LOSE FRIENDS

While serving recently on a church camp program, I sat in on a youth conference. One young man said that a grave problem concerning the young people of his church was the cleavage between those who went to college and those who did not, the latter feeling that students in college or about to attend college lorded it over the rest. "They have their own clique," he added.

Many of my readers are familiar with this problem, which is not confined to the church groups. Some of you have observed that few college students while attending church during vacation will, for example, express superiority by talking or laughing during worship.

All too many college students make their old comrades in the church, home or community feel that they are considered very inferior. An occasional youth, after spending a term or two in college, becomes a veritable snob among his former associates, not realizing, of course, how small a potato he has shrivelled to.

Different Only On The Surface

It is easy to see how the student, with very different associates and experiences at college, has become a different person on the surface. Yet, his old associates, inside and outside, are about the same as they were before. However, they are very sensitive to the slightest suggestion that they might be considered inferior. But how inferior they do feel, if they forget their own true worth!

Accordingly, I suggested at the conference that the college student had the vantage ground, and therefore the responsibility of making his old associates feel comfortable in relation to him; and that, insofar as he succeeded in doing so, he gained in richness of character and personality.

How well I may have succeeded in cultivating due humility among my own old associates, whom I still see now and then, I do not know. But I have tried hard to make them know they are as highly esteemed by me as they ever were, and that I still covet their esteem. Returning home, I made it a practice to call on most of my old pals, and I try to do so to this day when I visit in my childhood community.

To the young man or woman entering college: For the sake of your own character, personality and mental health, you cannot afford to lose perspective, or to let yourself become deluded with the notion that you are fundamentally any better than your old associates back home. Instead, you can well afford to work and pray for more humility.

French-German Forces Battle On Western Front

French Communiqué Says That Several Local Advances Are Made

(International News Service)

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Fighting between French and German troops on the Maginot-Siegfried lines proceeded with undiminished intensity today.

The fifth communiqué issued by the French war ministry this morning said:

"Several local advances were realized yesterday and during the night."

These advances followed in the wake of French penetration of the German defenses at a dozen points, exclusively revealed by International News Service on Monday.

Last night's communiqué dealt with close range fighting that followed the first successful French thrust, which International News Service first revealed had taken place in the Moselle valley, probably from the Metz and Strasbourg areas toward the Saarland.

"Our troops are in contact (with the enemy) everywhere along the opening in our frontier between the Rhine and the Moselle," last night's bulletin said.

It is significant that this communiqué made no mention of hostilities in the southern area near the Swiss frontier where, as International News Service pointed out, the Rhine river itself forms a formidable obstacle to anything but long-range artillery fire and aircraft.

Disclosure of the initial breakthrough on Monday was made 24 hours before the news was released for general publication. Under the present war ministry arrangements, brief communiques are being issued in Paris each morning and evening after the developments of the past 12 hours have been collated and prepared for publication in a manner that will not betray military secrets.

PRESIDENT MAPS NEUTRALITY MOVES FOR UNITED STATES

orders and stricter enforcement of existing law, keystone of which will be his neutrality proclamation under international law.

Can Halt Profiteering

Mr. Roosevelt hopes that, without recourse to congress, he can:

1. Adequately safeguard the Panama Canal, America's "feline."

2. Prevent profiteering, evidences of which already are cropping up.

3. Keep advocates of communism and fascism from their soap boxes and stamp out propaganda aimed against the American system of government; and,

4. Keep foreign spies from making the United States headquarters for belligerent espionage.

The president has long wanted repeal of what he calls the "so-called neutrality law" under which he is sued last night's embargo on arms shipments to all belligerents, but it appeared today, observers said, that national sentiment would have to crystallize more definitely to make him re-assemble congress for that particular purpose. Mr. Roosevelt and some members of congress feel this embargo is going to aid Germany and hurt England and France but he apparently is going to test it in fact.

Study Powers

Attorney General Murphy, Solicitor General Jackson and their aides in the department of justice have been studying the statute books to determine how broad the president's powers are in the current emergency.

Prime concern of the president is protection of the Panama Canal, through which the American battle fleet must pass as needed on either coast. In a special proclamation, Mr. Roosevelt gave the governor of the Canal zone wide authority in governing transit of ships and limited the number of belligerent craft that could be in or near the Canal at one time to six. He ordered World War destroyers be recommissioned as needed to "keep war away from our shores and our waters," and instructed that the navy's personnel be increased by 15 per cent to peace-time strength.

Further, the president said in his neutrality proclamation that frequenting or use of American waters by belligerent ships for hostile purposes or observations, "must be regarded as unfriendly and offensive." Officials made no secret of their concern over persistent rumors that German submarines are operating in the Caribbean off the Atlantic entrance of the Canal.

To Halt Profiteering

The department of justice was still studying means by which to stop profiteering. Attorney General Murphy several days ago said present laws were "inadequate" but it was reported department officials were finding encouraging loopholes.

Official Washington was disturbed by reports that speculators already were tying up sugar, flour and other commodities despite Mr. Roosevelt's warning that no American had "moral right" to resort to such practices.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, secret service and other undercover agencies of the government have been charged with running down foreign spies, preventing sabotage and putting a quietus on those who would preach communism or dictatorship in the United States.

Through these various actions, President Roosevelt is going to attempt to enforce strict American neutrality "without interfering with the free expression of opinion and sympathy," as his proclamation said. He conceded at his press conference that the latter quotation might be a deviation from precedent but said it gave a pretty good emphasis to his position.

HINT SUB WHICH SANK ATHENIA IS SUNK BY BRITISH

Athenia had been pursued and sunk by a British cruiser, it was officially stated:

"It is not always desirable to publish news regarding destruction or damage to enemy submarines by his majesty's government's naval forces. Therefore because no news has been released it must not be assumed that no success has been achieved."

Statements made by the chief officer of the Athenia as well as American and English survivors, Churchill told the house, showed that after torpedoing the passenger ship the U-boat broke surface and fired a shell which exploded in the middle of the deck of the Athenia.

"The disaster," he said, "has proved of greater magnitude than was indicated by earlier reports.

"The ship carried 1418 persons, of which 1103 were passengers, 300 of them being from the United States.

"It has been clearly established that the disaster was due to an attack without warning by submarine. The Athenia carried no guns."

ELEPHANT EQUALS

PULL OF HORSES

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 6.—Because "grandma" an 8740 pound elephant, tied the record pull of a team of Pennsylvania horses, the state now has a new record, reports C. A. Burge, livestock extension specialist of Pennsylvania State College.

Burge has charge of the dynamometer which is used to check the pulling power of horses. The machine is mounted on a truck.

Recently, Roscoe Mitchell, of Watertown, driving a 6 year old of grade Chestnut Belgians, broke the old mark of 3500 pounds and set a new one of 3525.

Then they brought old "Grandma" from the midway and they couldn't stop her until she had registered 3525 pounds.

Police Continue Enforcement Of Auto Speed Laws

Officers In Plain Clothes Are Checking Points Where Speeding Is Done

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—The Pennsylvania Motor Police will continue rigid enforcement of the 50-mile-an-hour speed limit for motor vehicles on the open highways of the State and extra details of police will be stationed in sections where surveys show violations are most prevalent.

In announcing this policy, Col. Lynn G. Adams, commissioner of Pennsylvania Motor Police, said police officers in plain clothes and using unidentifiable cars will be assigned to make observations on the highway to determine the extent to which motorists are violating the speed law.

These plain clothes officers will make no arrests, their sole function being to obtain information which will be used to determine where extra details of police will be required to provide rigid enforcement of speeding law.

Tuberculosis Of Cattle Controlled

Co-operation Of Owners With Authorities Brings Results

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—Cattle tuberculosis is one of the diseases that has been successfully controlled, due to the cooperation of cattle owners, cattle dealers, Farm Bureau Extension Agents and veterinarians, the Department of Agriculture said.

At the present time all the cattle in Chester, Columbia, Erie, Indiana, Mercer and Wyoming counties are receiving the triennial tuberculin test. When these counties are completed another series of counties will be given attention. The Federal Government and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have given the cattle owners every assistance possible to rid their herds of tuberculosis.

"The results of testing clearly show herd improvement after removal of reacting cattle; milk production is increased with a lesser number of cattle in the herds, showing that healthy cattle are of prime importance in the economical production of milk and meat," the Department said.

CARE OF A BABY IN ITS FIRST YEAR—NO. 3

Again and again in this column I have said that it is the duty of every mother to nurse her baby if it is at all possible. Cases where nursing is impossible are very rare, for there are very few reasons why a baby should not be nursed by its mother for at least six months.

There isn't any doubt that mother's milk gives the baby the greatest help in the complicated and difficult business of growing. We know that the milk in a mother's breast is the perfect food for the baby, and that it is the ONLY perfect food for him. Nature intended that food for him.

Bottle fed babies are not as strong or as healthy as breast fed babies, and I don't think any mother has a right to cheat her baby of the slightest degree of his health at this most important period in his life—that is, unless it is necessary for the health of the mother or the baby that he should not be breast fed. For instance, if the mother has tuberculosis it is for the baby's own good that he shouldn't feed at his mother's breast. The mother's condition is a matter for her doctor to determine.

I don't think I need say very much about the mechanics of feeding a baby at the breast. This is so natural a function that it will pretty well take care of itself. However, a satisfactory position is for the mother to turn well on the side on which she is to nurse, with the arm on that side raised above her head. The baby, lying on the bed beside her, can then easily get hold of the nipple, and the mother isn't in a cramped position.

Those in charge of the child and mother naturally will see to it that the first nursing shall not be undertaken by the mother until she has had a good rest. Usually there is no

(BULLETIN)
International News Service)

"Activities of the ministry will be of the widest scope, but at the same time every effort will be made to take into account the legitimate trading interests of neutrals . . .

"The aim of the ministry will be to disorganize the economy of the enemy and prevent him from effecting carrying out the war."

Ronald Hibbert Cross, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade since 1938, and one of Britain's outstanding commercial and financial authorities, is head of the ministry of economic warfare.

Buying Hysteria Factor In Sugar Price Jump

With a war started just at the time fall canning is the heaviest among housewives, sugar has taken hysterical jumps in New Castle and Lawrence County in the past three days. From a normal selling price of $1.22 for 25 pounds it has risen to a point where today the lowest price quoted by stores having any supply is $1.70 per 25 pounds with some stores getting as high as $1.25 cents per pound.

On the surface there appears to be little reason for any startling advance in prices but a local wholesaler gave the following reasons why.

Hysteria Among Buyers

First he listed as one of the basic causes, hysteria among buyers, who believing that the war would cause a shortage had rushed to stores.

Second, the fact that this buying hysteria came at a time when the sale of sugar was more than ordinarily heavy due to canning of fruits.

Third, the producer's sugar in Cuba and Puerto Rico were holding their stocks for advances, claiming that they have been losing money in the past two years.

Fourth, a dislocation of the distribution of foodstuffs due to present methods of merchandising.

Temporary Shortage

The shortage in sugar that exists today is a temporary one it is thought but quotations from New York jobbers to wholesalers indicate that the retail price will be around 7½ cents per pound. If the war continues for any length of time the high prices will prevail if it is felt by the wholesalers.

Other price advances are seen in staples. This is particularly true in the Michigan navy bean market. Growers are holding their stocks in the hope of advances in prices. Should the war be settled at an early date a price reduction would naturally follow.

Every wholesale grocer in the city has been deluged with bulletins and statements from jobbers in New York concerning all canned goods containing sugar, staple vegetables and sugar itself. All of them profess to be at sea as to what prices will be and many orders wired in have been cancelled due to the unsettled condition.

In the meantime it is suggested to housewives locally that they need have no fear of any shortage of sugar. The temporary shortage is due in part to their own increased buying, due to reasons set out above. If they will confine their buying to ordinary needs for a few days it may result in a stabilization of prices.

Panicky Buying

(International News Service) Pittsburgh, Sept. 6.—Panicky housewives and other consumers rushed Pittsburgh district stores today and made large purchases of foodstuffs in the wake of rising prices inspired by the outbreak of the European war.

"There is nothing we can do," one merchant said. "Housewives are hysterical and panicky. They are buying flour, sugar, coffee, rice and beans as fast as we can get them."

Wholesalers said they tried to reassure the public there would not be a shortage of staples, but the rush continued anyhow.

Another small grocer charged that wholesalers were holding back on staples and forcing prices to sky-rocket.

"It's the old story of supply and demand. The sellers know that the people are paying high prices so they are holding it off the market. After all, why should they sell it today when they can get a dollar for it tomorrow?"

Sugar went up one cent a pound, butter also was up one cent and eggs jumped two-and-one half cents a dozen. Dried Michigan navy beans were quoted at $4.78 per 100 pounds against $2.71 a week ago and dried lima beans shot up from $5.55 to $6.

Canada Cannot Supply Britain With U.S. Munitions

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Canada cannot be used as a means of supplying Great Britain with American-manufactured war supplies. Secretary of State Cordell Hull stated today.

Canada was excluded from application of the neutrality act embarking shipments of arms yesterday, because the dominion has not yet declared war against Germany.

This immediately aroused speculation that the omission might provide a "loop hole" in the neutrality act through which Great Britain might obtain unlimited war materials.

Hull, however, pointed out today that the neutrality act forbids shipments of embargoed war materials both directly and indirectly to belligerents.

Satisfactory proof must be furnished of the ultimate destination of war supplies before they are licensed by the state department, he added.

Canada can still purchase war materials for her own use but not to be shipped to Great Britain and, officials said, if Canada declares war against Germany the president's neutrality proclamation will be immediately extended to include Canada.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN FOR TERM

Half Day Session Schedule Instituted For Senior High Pupils

With the schedules of the various buildings operating at nearly mid-term smoothness, the public schools of New Castle opened today for the 1939-40 term. Practically every building had its full complement of teachers. Superintendent C. C. Green announced at noon.

In the senior high school the schedule presented is a new one, due to two sessions being held daily instead of one as in the past. This is being done in order to accommodate the crowd of students without adding any additional space. Some students will finish at noon and others will start at noon and finish late in the afternoon.

The total enrollment of the schools will not be available for a day or so, nor will it be accurate then, due to the daily increase which will be seen for the first 30 days. By October 15 it is thought the enrollment will reach its peak.

Plant Down For Minute Inspection

Pennsylvania Power Follows Usual Practice With New Plants

Pennsylvania Power company's new $3,000,000 plant at West Pittsburg has completed its trial run of more than one month and has been closed down for several weeks to undergo inspection and adjustment of parts, if such should be necessary. Due to this the inspection by the public of the plant has been cancelled until further notice.

Closing down of the plant is not unusual. It is the practice followed after what is known as a "shake-down" or trial period has been enjoyed.

The turbine casing will be removed and it and all auxiliaries of the plant will now undergo a minute inspection.

The new plant, it was reported by company officials, has earned a remarkable record during the trial period because without difficulty it, at times carried loads of current in excess of its capacity over extended periods.

Local Hospital Plan Is Fully Explained

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 6.—Ellwood City hospital, by formal action of its board of directors, has joined as a member hospital of The Hospital Plan, Inc. With Jameson Memorial hospital already a member hospital of The Plan the action of the Ellwood hospital is a most important move toward establishment of a county-wide hospitalization service for Lawrence county citizens to provide complete freedom of choice of hospital to subscribers and their dependents when unexpected hospitalization need arises.

During the past 40 months Hospital Plan members and their dependents have received $65,000 worth of hospitalization benefits paid for by The Plan. Approximately 6,000 persons are now protected against hospital bills for treatment of unexpected sickness and injury. Over 30 stations for public subscription application and payment are established and additional subscription agencies will be provided at once throughout the Ellwood City community.

The Hospital Plan does not require subscription and payment by groups. Application and payment may be individual through any established agency which suits the convenience of the individual. For employers who desire to assist employees in subscription application and payment every facility and convenience is provided. Subscription is voluntary, however. No solicitors are employed.

Any person (except a dependent housewife) between the ages of 19 and 69 is eligible to make application. Housewives and children under 19 years of age who are not gainfully employed are eligible only for dependent benefits. No benefits are furnished to any person for treatment of any disorder known to exist and need hospital bed treatment on the date of application.

Each enrolled member—subscriber or dependent—is entitled to up to 21 days hospital bed care as needed during any one subscription year. The care includes bed and general nursing care in a semi-private room and all usual hospitalization services furnished by a member hospital. For hospitalization furnished under the plan a subscriber is charged nothing for the first 21 days. For like hospital bed care furnished a dependent the patient is charged up to $2 per day when services are furnished by a member hospital.

For urgent need when away from home and beyond reach of a member hospital the plan provides for emergency hospitalization in any hospital in the United States or Canada, and pays $6 per day for emergency hospitalization of a subscriber and $3 per day for emergency bed care of any dependent.

After ten months continuous subscription benefits of the plan apply for maternity cases in a member hospital. In case a patient desires private room bed accommodations when a patient in a member hospital private room will be furnished on payment to the hospital of the difference between $4.50 per day and Bessemer needs but one more game to win the series having won the first two games. The decision was made to play the third game at Bessemer owing to the better facilities for handling the big crowd that will attend.

Afield And Astream

With Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association

By GEORGE SILLMAN

Stream pollution—every fisherman knows what it means and does to our fishing. The fine is $100.00 and costs, but it is not near the cost of the fish and the sport it would afford hundreds of fishermen. Just this last week the Shenango River had its waters filled with this fish killing fluid. According to reports here at New Castle, the water contained one part of acid to eighteen parts of water, and we are a long ways from the point of actual dumping. Not many weeks ago, the Allegheny had its share, but what is anyone doing about it? A fisherman buys a fishing license and if caught with under-size or over the legal limit is fined. I have read of men caught fishing illegally and have not caught or killed one tenth of the fish killed in stream pollution and their fine twice that of polluting a stream.

Dog training season is in, but who wants to run dogs in this heat. There will be plenty of cool days to run them. (cut sport's menu down a little so when the time comes he will be able to carry himself.)

Secretary (Hawkins) Henley, Charles Cunningham and their parties left Friday for Canada and came back Monday night. Just a little drive over the border for a little more fishing before the season closes. These dyed-in-the-wool fishermen sure can take it. It was the second trip to Canada this year.

William Young of West Moody avenue, leaves next week for a Canadian fishing trek. Looks like he'll have to bring that big 'un from Canada, that he has been wanting to show us. (Don't do like we did Bill—bring a few samples home or you'll never live it down.)

President of all clubs note—Special council meeting at the Y Friday night, September 8th. Be present with your delegates.

First regular fall meeting of our club has been postponed on night. Election day falls on our regular meeting night so on account of this we will meet Wednesday, September 13, at 8 p. m., at the City Building.

Movies and what have you will take up session. Be present and come early.

Several have asked me the price of Canadian fishing license. Single non-resident $5.50; family $8.00 (includes man, wife and five children under 21 years of age.) Any non-resident of the Province angling without first obtaining an angling license subjects himself to a penalty of not more than $1,000 and costs, and in default of payment, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months, or both. Fishermen are not allowed to use more than one fishing line at a time. (Here we are allowed two poles and one hand line to be under the control of the fisherman at all times.) Canadian creel limits are the same as ours. Bass 6 per day (not less than 10 inches long 2 per day). Trout 5 per day, not less than 7 inches.)

Rescue Committee Of Preparedness Group Important

Harry Culliford And Charles Brest Head Important Red Cross Committee

(Fourth Article In Series)

Just from the title of the Rescue committee one easily realizes the importance it plays in the Chapter Program of disaster preparedness. Harry Culliford, chairman has approximately twenty-five volunteers first aid instructors in the county who are well advised as to emergency care. This committee works very closely with the doctors and in no way functions as a medical unit but only as a first aid group ready to alleviate suffering until medical aid arrives. Assisting him is Charles Brest, director of life saving for the chapter.

In each of the United States the volunteers of first aid play a very important part in the first period of any disaster. During the dreadful days of the Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood and more recently up in the New England states, the Rescue Committee composed entirely of volunteers, played a very important active part.

Mr. Culliford and his very fine co-workers have no desire to carry out their assignment, but if it becomes necessary, Lawrence County should feel very proud of this organized group.
